About Me

Hi! I'm Candace. A whip-smart digital entertainment and wrestling host, writer, and actress from Philly. My passion for music, culture, and the arts has taken me to cities such as London and New York City to interview celebrities like Cardi B, En Vogue, and many more!

I've worked for world-renowned record labels and major media outlets, including the New York Daily News, ABC Radio, and Bustle. I even took my talents online to interview WWE superstars and Broadway performers.

I love talking to people who inspire, motivate and entertain us, and sharing new ideas, shows, music, books, and other things I discover along the way.

I'm currently a writer for the longest-published wrestling magazine — Pro Wrestling Illustrated and represented the publication every month as a correspondent for "Busted Open Radio" on Sirius XM. I also host two digital series, "Face Turn with Candace Cordelia" for Pro Wrestling Illustrated and "On the Rise with Candace Cordelia" for Broadway World.

My expertise in weekly wrestling programming, from WWE to All Elite Wrestling, presented me with fantastic opportunities as a media roundtable guest for FITE TV and Fightful Wrestling, as well as a guest for numerous wrestling and sports-related shows for brands such as the New York Post.

I've also used my experience as an actress and passion for entertainment to write about TV, film, music, fashion, sports, entertainment business, fitness, health/wellness, and pop culture.
